

North Carolina Community Garden Partners (NCCGP)

What is the NCCGP?

The NCCGP is a group of over 25 individuals from various organizations including the NC Division of Public Health, NC A&T, NCSU, SEEDS, Bountiful Backyards, Inter-Faith Food Shuttle, Triangle Food Commons, Piedmont Biofuels, NC Cooperative Extension, Wake Teen Medical Services, NC Botanical Gardens and others interested in community

Community Gardening Can Play A Key Role In:

- Creating Community
- Comprehensive Health Education and Resources
- Local Foods
- Sustainability
- Policy & Partnerships
- Youth Development
- Capacity Building For Communities

The NCCGP's vision is to connect community gardeners, gardening organizations and NC citizens to increase community gardening efforts throughout the state.

One of the main priorities of the NCCGP is to see an increase in the number of successful and sustainable community gardens in North Carolina.

The Community Garden Survey is the first action step the NCCGP is taking toward creating a strategic plan and statewide organization for community gardens.

Results from the survey will help us to know about and promote the community gardens in NC.

If you are involved in community gardening, please visit this website and complete the 5 minute survey:

http://www.surveymonkey.com/s.aspx?sm=oeUDmNWhGtojfbBnPpYN1A_3d_3d

If you want to learn more about the NC Community Garden Partners and get involved, visit the NC Garden website and/or join the Community Garden listserv:

<http://nccommunitygarden.ncsu.edu/>

http://lists.ncsu.edu/cgi-bin/mj_wwwusr?user=&passw=&func=lists-long-full&extra=nc-community-garden